OPM Group are proud to have partnered with BPIF to offer Level 3 print apprenticeships. You will gain a strong knowledge of the print industry and print production process. You will be able to choose whether to specialise in being a pre-press, press or post-press technician and will be trained in all departments that contribute towards the process of flexographic & digital printing.

Our Print Technician Positions – Level 3

PRE-PRESS TECHNICIAN

Pre-press is the first stage of production and is used to describe the process and procedure that occur between the creation of print-ready design and the actual printing process. You will master the skill of maintaining the flow of work to the printing presses by ensuring all elements of the job are prepared ready for the printers to use.

PRESS TECHNICIAN

As a Press technician, you will learn how to use state of the art technology to produce high quality labels and flexible packaging. You will have a hands-on approach and work towards being able the main operator of a flexographic or digital printing press.

POST PRESS TECHNICIAN

Post Press is the last stage of production, you will perform the final quality control and finishing functions for some of your favourite brand's labels & flexible packaging. By the end of your apprenticeship, you will be able to operate multiple pieces of finishing equipment.
